Big 750 barrels and not near drilled in locations have been made for Nos. 2 and 3 one north and one west of the changes and that the Atlantic Petroleum company will have properly worth a bagful of money.

Another Good One at Beggs

The Atlantic Petroleum company's well in 13-25-11 is showing 50 barrels an hour at only three feet of sand. This is No. 1 well in the southeast corner of the southwest of the Wilcox farm where the big Wilcox wells are located. It is said to have got the sand higher and to be really showing better than either of the Wilcox wells at that depth in the sand.

John Anderson in Town

John Anderson of Anderson & Gustafson arrived in Tulsa yesterday on his way from Texas, where he and Gus Winzeler, office manager here, have been working past him along over the situation.

He says that the wheat fields in North Texas are down in spots on account of the excessive rainfall, while the most of it has been cut and shocked and will soon be put through the threshing machines. He says the roads in north Texas are still as bad as ever.

Production Holding Up in Homer District

The Standard Oil company pipe line from this point over approximately 1,100 barrels daily. The production is being piped from the wells to the Standard Oil Company's pumping tank about mile and half north of Homer and transported in tank cars to the refinery at Tulsa. Howe and associates have completed the construction of a pipe line from the field to Homer and loading racks at that point, thus doubling the transportation facilities.

Oil Refining company No. 1 Chapman in 24-24-7 is good for 35 barrels per day. Standard Oil company No. 2 is good for only a 10-barrel pump.

Henry Gries on the Job

The reports that Henry Gries was in Indianapolis with the Standard Oil Co. have been entirely erroneous and his well in 19-15-11 has been running his entire and undiminished stream during the last week. It is certainly worth looking after because Saturday night it was making
